reply, aroused my interest, and I turned bac You don't look very strong; I am surpri can stand doing what you do.—Well, Monsi do something for one's living.—That may 1 you could find some employment suited to —No, Monsieur, I must earn the money.

'l was interested, pleased; here at last was; would answer my questions, a result whi< I had not always attained!

July 1st, 1788, Auxonne:

I have no interests outside my work. I dress only once a week. Since my illness little, incredibly little! I go to bed at ten, t four. I have but one meal a day, a practic well with me.

April 1st, 1789. This year has begun hope thinkers, and after all these centuries of feuc and political slavery it is surprising to see 1 Liberty sets minds on fire that appeared to b< under the influence of luxury, indulgence, ai France is being regenerated, what will b unfortunate Corsicans ?

16th, Ajaecio:

My shattered health will prevent my : regiment before the 15th of October.